Return of the Caroline—Account of the Voyage by the Times Correspondent.

No White Men Killed—Everything Quiet on the Coast—Specials off to Hazelton.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

By H.M.S. Caroline which arrived in Esquimalt yesterday afternoon, the following information was received. The description of the trip by our special correspondent as well as the latest news from Hazleton, will be interesting:

On board the Caroline,
July 18th, 1888.

Your correspondent has had a good time since leaving Victoria. We embarked safely on the Caroline and steamed off as soon as all were on board, taking the inner channel, the Battery band parading and playing during the heaving of the anchor and the non commissioned officers and men joining in with the tars and hauling on the ropes and manning the capstan bars. It took but a few minutes to heave and "cat" the anchor, and we were well off on our journey. A short distance from Victoria we passed the Premier and R. P. Rithet, the passengers and crew of which cheered as we passed. In the evening and enlivened us with choice selections for an hour and a half. Their efforts were heartily appreciated, sailors, soldiers and specials, and even some of the officers waltzing, and keeping time as piece after piece was played, and spending a most enjoyable time. The captain, in the evening had the upper deck completely covered in by large canvas awnings, while sails were opened and spread on the decks for the soldiers and specials to sleep upon. Then electric lights were placed under the canvas, lighting the decks as brightly as daylight almost, then all hands enjoyed themselves after band playing, with songs and yarns and from all I heard the long bow was pretty freely drawn, though in a humorous and taking manner that quite took us all. We voted the evening a most enjoyable one and long to be remembered. Your correspondent was lucky enough to fall in with steward Weale and the Master-at-Arms, who spread hammocks for him and the senior non-commissioned officers of the Battery, and we had our first experience in a hammock. The old story of a man getting in to one side of a hammock and slighting on the floor or deck on the other side, was here displayed to advantage, amid the laughter of the tars, who are always ready for a joke, and seem to take the humorous side of everything, even when the joke is against themselves. However, we were all safely placed at last, and enjoyed a good night's rest, save when we were awakened by the boatswain's mate calling for the port and starboard watches, his cheery voice, apparently awakening everyone but those wanted. At 6 a. m.

THE BAND AGAIN PARADED

"LASH UP AND STOW HAMMOCKS"

resounded, and the only partially awakened tars and soldiers were to be seen on all sides, the former obeying, and the latter attempting to obey, the order. Now I find there is as much difficulty in getting out of as in getting into a hammock, and many were the spills in the endeavor to get out gracefully, all of which were fully appreciated. It must be remembered by those who are unfamiliar with men-of-war that the hammocks are fastened to hooks twisted to the deck supports and just clear of a man's head when walking upright; so the difficulty of getting in or out may be imagined. On going on deck several whales or black fish were seen disporting themselves a couple of hundred yards from the ship—blowing off—as far as they could be seen. At nine a. m. we passed Valdez Island, on which an encampment of Euclataw Indians was to be seen, who were said to be engaged in dog-fishing. The morning was enlivened by "general quarters," which consists in manning and getting the guns and ship generally ready for action. "Fire quarters," or fire alarm was given immediately afterwards, and it was astonishing to see the rapidity with which guns was loosed, trained and made ready for firing, and ammunition supplied. In just about one and a half minutes everything was ready, and it struck us at the time that some of the sailors and marines only wished it was for an enemy instead of an imaginary one. Just here I would like to say

A WORD AS TO THE MESSES.

All hands, as soon as they got on board, were taken in charge by the Petty officers and taken to their quarters, and in half an hour were comfortable and as much at home as though they had been previously acquainted. The meals are first-class—in quality, variety, and quantity—and he would be fastidious indeed who could not enjoy them. Breakfast at five bells (7 to 8 a.m.); Dinner at eight bells, (12 noon); tea at eight bells in the afternoon, (4 p.m.); supper at 8 p.m.; and lunch all day long leaves nothing to be desired in this respect. One of the features of the afternoon was the agility displayed by the special correspondent of the Colonist, who at one end of a small piece of rope and the ship's cat at the other, afforded amusement for us all. In the evening the Battery band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Agius, played a number of choice selections, and was warmly congratulated by the officers of the Caroline on the ability displayed. Just after band playing, about 8:40 p.m., the ship was anchored for the night opposite Fort Rupert. A few minutes after dropping the anchor, we were boarded by a canoe full of Indians, with Chief Hompset, who wanted to see the vessel. He was shown the 9-in. b.l. guns and the Nordenfelt's and was seemingly highly elated. We turned in about 10 p. m. and this evening succeeded a little better with the hammocks. In the morning anchor was weighed at 3:30 o'clock and after that there was nothing further for the men to do until 8:30 a. m. On rising this morning (18th) we found the ship rolling and tossing at a great rate, though the sea was not high. Getting on deck as quickly as the rolling would permit we found that we were

ENTERING QUEEN CHARLOTTES' SOUND.

As may be expected, we did not take kindly to the movements of the vessel and soon soldiers and specials were to be seen making for the side. Very little breakfast was eaten to-day. The mal de mer had taken hold of most all on board. Your special did not entirely escape. We passed through the Sound by 10:30 when the pitching and rolling ceased to a great extent and the landsmen were seen to come out again rather pale and shaky. They bore up all they could, I think, and bravely tried to smile when spoken to; but almost invariably left abruptly. The Caroline returns at once after landing us, and it is expected that the "Espeigle" will take us down again when the affair is over. The sailors are arranging a programme for a concert this evening. We are at Bella Bella, a village on the left bank, and at 7:25 p. m. we passed Chinaman's Hat, a large cone-shaped hill, also on the left bank.

Shortly after 8 p. m. the band paraded, and music was the go for the next hour, after which our bands paraded around a temporary stage erected forward near the forecastle. First-Lieutenant Sampson presided, and an enjoyable evening was passed.

THE CONCERT

was opened by an overture by the band, after which able seaman O. Porter sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," which, on a rapturous encore, he followed by "The Minute Gun at Sea," both of which were capitally rendered. Gunner Hyndman sang two fine songs, followed by Able Seaman Werry with "Mary Anne," and, on an encore, "When the Corn is Waving, Annie, Dear." Gunner Gardiner followed with a clog-dance, and was well applauded. E. R. A. Noakes sang "Cigar Divan," and, for an encore, "Old Brown Upside Down." Sergeant Proctor gave a cornet solo, assisted by Bandmaster Agius and several members of the band, which was in his usual capital form. J. Murray, R. M. L. I., sang "Powder Monkey, Little Jim," which was well rendered. Gunner Murphy, of C Battery, sang "Pat's Sea Voyage," and, in response to an encore, "The Alderman of the East Ward" and "Dennis Malcahy's Feast." This ended the first part. The second was opened by an overture by the band. At this point of the proceedings Lieutenant Sampson announced that Sir William Wiseman, Bart., would recite, and that Lieutenant Colonel Prior would sing a song, in addition to to the programme arranged, which announcements were vociferously applauded. Owing to the lateness of the hour it was asked that no encores be called for during the rendition of this half of the programme. Sailmaker Smith was then called upon, and sang "I can't make it out, can you?" in good style and Gunner J. Smith, of C Battery, sang a very humorous song which was well appreciated; after which Lieut-Col. Prior sang "The Midshipmite," which was evidently appreciated by all from the vociferous applause given, and it was regretted that encores were not permitted. Captain's coxswain A. Rodman, sang "Dorkins' Night," in a manner highly appreciated. W. Jeffrey, R. M., gave "They're Wide Awake," which was in good style and well received. W. Coleman, of C Battery, did some difficult feats, using his teeth only; but owing to the confined space could not do all he would have liked. Sir William Wiseman, Bart., then recited. This time an encore could not be resisted and Sir William kindly responded with the "great Zacharias or the Sagacious Elephant." The programme ended with a song by G. Drew after which "God Save the Queen" closed one of the most enjoyable evenings your correspondent has spent. The proceedings all through showed considerable talent and aptitude to circumstances and the kindness of the officers and men on board will long be remembered by all who had the good fortune to be present.

We did not get into our hammocks to-night until 12 p. m. and after the unpleasantness of the morning most of us slept well. We and in the morning anchored about seven miles from the Skeena. The steam pinnace was lowered and a party of officers proceeded forward to examine and find out what they could regarding the state of the river and what guides and help could be obtained, as, unless sufficient could be procured, the passage up the Skeena would be impossible, and the Naas would be our landing place. All the time the Boscowitz has not been seen, and our stopping this morning was to enable her to catch up to us. We have only laid up one night in spite of all the difficulties of navagation through the narrow channels and where last year the pilot would not proceed at night at all. The steam launch returned with the news that and that the two men reported killed were all right—and the rumor is that the special police will go forward and the Battery return to Victoria.

ALL WAS QUIET AND SETTLED,

July 20.—This morning the anchor was weighed and we proceeded slowly up to the mouth of the Skeena, and anchored at Port Essington, a very small place. No one was allowed to land but the officers, and they went off in the steam pinnace about 3:20 p.m., and returned to the ship at 7 p.m. Rumors again that all is quiet and order restored though the police are still barricaded in.

July 21.—The Boscowitz came in at 9:30 and steamed in to the pier. Boat gone off to her. Supt. Roycroft just came on board. Am going off on shore in a few minutes. Orders just received for the police to land and go on to Hazelton. The Battery to land and encamp until word is received from them—and if there is no further trouble will return home. The Caroline will take this down to Victoria, as she returns at once. The police have landed at 1 p.m. The Battery will land at 9 a.m. Monday.

JUST CREDIT.

Before closing let me give just dues to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Caroline, who have spared neither pains nor trouble to make everyone comfortable in regard to meals, sleeping accommodation, and in fact everything that could in any way add to our comfort. They have been obliging in the smallest matters—waiting for the second table for their meals, and spending time and money in spite of our remonstrances for our comfort, and in no way has anything occurred to mar the harmony existing between all ranks of both corps. Good wishes to them both. I will send further news from time to time as opportunity offers.

Sunday 9 p.m.—News to-night that the police are still imprisoned—but all quiet.

FURTHER INFORMATION.

Hon. Mr. Turner who arrived on the Caroline, brings information which he received from a man named Hankin who has a store at Essington. Hankin had arrived the day before the Caroline. He furnished the satisfactory intelligence that the rumor of the killing of Mr. Clifford, agent of the Hudson Bay Company was without foundation. No whites had been molested, but all excepting a missionary and his family had availed themselves of the protection of the strongly barricaded Hudson Bay post. The Indians, however, maintained a threatening

VICTORIA INDUSTRIES.

Victoria Piano Manufactory—Music for the Millions—Splendid Instruments.

A Business That Ought to Receive Every Encouragement from the People.

The only manufactory of musical instruments in the city being that of the Victoria Piano Factory, corner of Fort and Broad streets, deserves—as an infant industry in a struggle for existence against makes with names of note and other eastern competition—a special mention of more than ordinary length in the columns of THE TIMES, in a hope that this, one of our particular industries, may receive that support and encouragement so necessary to its development and success. Some three years ago the proprietors,

MESSRS. GOODWIN & JORDAN,

started on this uncertain sea of enterprise, in hopes that by their art and mechanical skill, they would be enabled by a liberal share of city and provincial patronage to enter the field of competition with the eastern makers of note. Having to battle with the fearful odds, of not only the world-wide reputation of other makes, but also the deep-rooted prejudices of public opinion, many were the dodges and devices of their opponents to kill the reputation of Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan, notwithstanding which the call for instruments of their make has gone on steadily increasing, sufficient to create a hope that ere long their instruments will rival that of other manufacturers, not only in the country of their inception but also that of the outside markets. Mr. Goodwin kindly piloted us over the establishment, which occupies the whole of the second flat of the extensive building. We were shown a cleverly devised combination machine for boring, ripping, cross cutting, fret-work, etc.; also an equally ingenious contrivance for shaping and moulding the various ornamental framework of the piano. The wood pattern for the iron frame work (which is cast by the Albion Iron Foundry), designs and scales for the various styles and dimensions of the instruments manufactured. These latter were a credit to the mechanical genius of Mr. Goodwin, and clearly showed that he was a perfect master of his art. The pianos of this firm are entirely manufactured on the premises, the only parts imported as ready for being fixed in position being the action and hardware. There are, we were informed, only about four factories in the world that manufacture the action, and it is the intention of Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan, at no distant day, to be able to utter that they also make their own actions. The foregoing facts should be borne in mind, as it is very unjust to this firm to have it stated by others of the trade that they only put the parts together, importing them from the east ready to put up. Now this is not a fact. Anyone wishing to see for themselves are invited to visit the factory, where every pains will be taken to exhibit the various details of the process of manufacturing as carried out at the Victoria factory. The woods used are, for casings, Eastern maple, walnut and mainland spruce and pine. We were shown a couple of flue instruments just completed for customers, one being a large upright piano finished in ebonized casing, and a small cottage upright, finished in walnut casing and mahogany. One of Victoria's leading pianists, Prof. Sharp, was, during our stay, drawing forth torrents of delicious melody from both instruments alternately, and for volume of sound, perfect, instantaneous action, answering like electricity to the nimble touch of the Professor's fingers, these Victorian pianos, home-made though they be, would stand the ordeal trial with credit to themselves in a competition with more famous instruments. We were shown some cases in hand of blistered walnut veneer. The wood is not only veneered on the show side but is also on that of the side hidden from view. The design and finish when completed will be a triumph of art. Some scroll and fretwork were also shown, all of which are testimonials as to the workmanship and genius of Messrs. Goodwin and Jordan. Our attention was called to a fact which ought to be impressed on the mind of intending purchasers, that the wood of the instruments manufactured by Goodwin & Jordan are all shelacked, seen and concealed, which in a damp winter climate like ours is

THE PROUD BOAST

AN UNTOLD ADVANTAGE.

The glueing also of the various parts is subjected to a special process, and the loosening of any of the glued parts of Goodwin & Jordan's pianos a thing unknown. The sounding-boards are also of special construction, which imparts to the instrument that deep rich tone for which they are justly celebrated, as can be testified by Prof. Bohrer, Prof. Sharpe, and Prof. Strauss, all men capable of judging. Put the name "Chickering," "Steinaway" or any other noted maker on one of the Victorian make and the prejudiced would if they possess any musical judgment whatever—they seldom do—choose the Goodwin & Jordan. There is everything in a name whether it be in trade, literature, manufactures, politics or religion. Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan ought to follow in the footsteps of Pendray, adopt the tricks of trade and try at manufacturing "soft soap." Mr. Goodwin is the manager, designer and mechanical head of the concern, while the other partner, Mr. Jordan, attends to the trade, business, turning, etc., etc. The former gentleman served his time to pianoforte making at the celebrated establishment of Wornum's, Tottenham Court Road, London, and has had an experience of American manufacturing of fifteen years in New York, Chicago, and San Francisco. Testimonials were produced and shown from the most celebrated makers in the United States, amongst which were seen some from Badger & Co., Bancroft & Co., T. M. Antisele Piano Co., all of San Francisco establishments, where Mr. Goodwin held the responsible position of managing foreman. The concerns under that gentleman's management secured various medals and diplomas for excellent workmanship. Mr. Jordan, the other partner, in the firm, has had a large experience in the United States, having been for years in the employ of the celebrated firm of Mason & Hamlin, of Boston, while his reputation as a piano tuner has become noted in the city of Victoria and throughout the province generally. With energy and true artistic skill and genius which seems to be possessed to a degree by both parties of the firm THE UNDOUBTED SUCCESS which awaits them in the near future stimulates them to renewed action in the race of competition for supremacy. Capital, the great motor in all industries, ought not to be wanting as the piano manufacturing industry here in Victoria bids fair for success, and consequently the prompt payment of large dividends to invested capital. The fast increasing wealth of the people will create a desire for luxury and a taste for piano music. The question is ought our home industries supply the demand for the latter. There is no reason why it should not. Therefore it behooves every well-wisher for the present and future prosperity of British Columbia to encourage and patronize as far as practicable, sinking prejudice, not only our piano but all other articles and goods of our numerous manufacturers. We were also shown testimonials from the various purchasers of pianos made by this firm, amongst which we observed one from Mr. Frank Richards, jr., of the Clarence Hotel, Victoria, testifying in the highest terms the opinion of tourists as to the excellency of the Goodwin & Jordan Piano: one from Mr. T. Kains, James Bay; Mr. A. G. Ferguson, Vancouver; Mr. Whittaker, Victoria, and others. The following certificates from men of undoubted qualifications and reputation as pianists testifies as to tone and superiority of the Goodwin & Jordan Victoria Pianos:

Victoria, B. C., July 28th, 1888.

Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan, Piano Manufacturers:

During the last six months in Victoria I made use of Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan's piano at my residence. They are not only distinguished by their ample melodious tone and elastic action above every other instrument, but they possess a capacity of modulation combined with a mechanism which makes them easy to handle that no other instruments can boast of. It is a pleasure to me to be able to recommend them to every one as excellent in every respect.

HEINRICH BOHRER,
Professor of Piano.

Victoria, B. C., July 28, 1888.

To Whom it may Concern: This certifies that Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan, of this city, have, for the last two and a half years done all our work in the shape of tuning and repairing, both to our pianos and organs, and that they have so far given us satisfaction, and we take pleasure in recommending them to the public.

C. A. LOMBARD & Co.

Messrs Goodwin & Jordan:

GENTLEMEN,—Being familiar with the best upright pianos made in Paris, London, Boston and New York, it gives me great pleasure to testify to the excellency of your pianofortes, which in regard to perfect action, musical tone and workmanship compare with the best, and therefore are sure to give the fullest satisfaction. I am respectfully yours,

HENRY STRAUSS.

Victoria, B. C., July 29, 1888.

Victoria, B. C., July 28th, 1888.

Messrs. Goodwin & Jordan:—

GENTLEMEN,—I cheerfully bear testimony of the great satisfaction I have had from your work, both on pianos and organs. The Doherty organ, which you took apart for me and returned I consider in better shape and tone than when received from the manufacturer. Pianos tuned for me have given general satisfaction. JNO. B. FERGUSON.

Victoria, July 28th, 1888.

Messrs Goodwin & Jordan:—

GENTLEMEN,—Having been conversant with your pianos for the past year, I consider them for quality of tone and delicacy of touch second to none. I may also add that I never have seen an inferior piece of work with your name on it or turned out of your factory, during my stay in Victoria. Your tuning I consider can not be excelled. H. S. SHARPE,
Late Royal College of Music, London, England.

THE LOAN BY-LAWS.

While we do not undertake to advise the ratepayers as to how they should vote on the proposed loan by-laws, we feel that it is our duty to impress upon them the necessity for a careful consideration of the various questions involved and an intelligent vote thereon. The greatest danger is, not that the majority will do wrong, but that the minority may triumph through the apathy of the many. There are several by-laws that ought to carry, and there is one at least that must be defeated, if we are to preserve our name as an intelligent community. The proposed loan of $30,000 for a retaining wall at James Bay, immediately after the expenditure of $13,000 or $14,000 for a bridge at the same point, and when no estimates have been made of the proposed work, is about as insane a proposition as has ever been put forward in Victoria. The reclamation of the mud flats, and a permanent embankment across James Bay, may come in time, but the time is not yet. We sincerely hope to see this loan refused. As to the others, we have already expressed ourselves in their favor, and need not again repeat our arguments. The vote will be taken to-morrow, and all who take an interest in the city will go to the polls and deposit their ballots for or against the several proposed loans.

THE SKEENA EXPEDITION.

The news brought down by the Caroline will have the effect of allaying the fears entertained in Victoria in regard to the possibility of serious trouble arising out of the unfortunate incident at Hazelton, where one of the local government's "specials" shot down an Indian murderer when the latter was about to surrender himself to white men's justice. By some unaccountable means the telegrams appearing in the eastern papers in reference to the disturbance have been of a very sensational character, wholly unwarranted by the facts. The fears of our people were no doubt magnified by the extreme course taken by the Government in dispatching a war ship and C Battery to the north, as it was generally believed that the authorities were in possession of facts of a more alarming character than had been made public. Fortunately, however, it has now transpired that the Government were only laboring under a very bad attack of "scare," which had very naturally, under the circumstances, been induced by a knowledge of the character of the men who had been commissioned to arrest the Indian murderer. The prevailing opinion among those who know the northern Indians thoroughly has been that a small force of men, acquainted with the country and familiar with the Indian character, and commanded by one man for whom the Indians had respect, would have been sufficient to allay the excitement and preserve law and order. The dispatch of such a large force gave to the disturbance an importance that it did not deserve, and suggested the possibility of a war that was not justified by the facts. But the Government can in a measure be pardoned for their alarm and subsequent course in requesting the services of the battery and one of Her Majesty's ships to quell the disturbance, because they knew that their stupidity might provoke a general uprising. The great error—and it was unquestionably a grave and criminal error—for which they will be held responsible by the people of the province, originated in the policy which culminated in the killing of an Indian. The special constable who shot KIT-WAN-COOL-JIM, was an appointee of the Government, who are accountable for his acts, and for whatever bloodshed may result from the blundering incapacity of their servants.

We do not hold the Provincial Government entirely responsible for the unhappy state of affairs now existing at Hazelton. The disaffection among the Indians is the result of governmental indifference and departmental folly in treating—or rather in failure to treat—with a people who are even as yet semi-barbarians. The Dominion Government provoked one rebellion which cost the country millions of dollars and hundreds of lives, and it is not impossible that the Saskatchewan war may at some future time be repeated, if not on the same large scale at least with equally fatal consequences, among the mountain fastnesses of northern British Columbia. There is a dual power in the regulation of Indian affairs, between which the Indian mind does not discriminate, and which cannot fail to breed strife and disaffection. The time has surely come for a reformation of our Indian policy, and when men can be chosen for positions of great delicacy and responsibility on account of their fitness and not because they have been hangers-on of the men who are entrusted with the government of the province.

TRANSPLANTING LOBSTERS.

The United States Fish Commission has been successful in transplanting lobsters from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans. A shipment left Wood's Hall on the 16th June and arrived at Sacramento when there were planted at different points north and south of San Francisco. The lobsters were packed between layers of rock-weed, occasionally moistened with sea-water, in a crate placed within another box; the intervening space being filled with broken ice. An independent drain prevented fresh water from entering the lobster receptacle. They were thus kept fifteen days and at the end of the voyage appeared as vigorous as when first caught. One hundred crates containing six lobsters each, or 600 lobsters in all, were sent. The temperature was kept at about 45 degrees. On the first day 45 lobsters died, and on the second 55. After that the number of deaths gradually decreased. Those which died were either in an advanced state of shedding, or sickly when they started. On arrival at the Pacific coast 350 were found alive and vigorous. It now remains to be seen whether these crustaceans will thrive and prosper in their new abodes, and if they do we hope our Fisheries Department will resume its experiments and stock the coasts of British Columbia with this valuable article of food and commerce. We believe Mr. Mowat will renew at an early date his efforts to transport a car load from the Bay Chaleurs to the waters of Vancouver Island and the inlets of the mainland.

Rev. Dr. Williams, general superintendent of the Methodist church, has returned to Toronto from an official visit to the Methodist convention in Newfoundland. He says that while there he heard a great deal said about confederation with Canada, and should judge that the people were about evenly divided on the question. A large number were reserving decision until they learn something of the terms that will be offered by the Canadian government. Many say our tariff would be better for them financially than their own, and there is a widespread feeling that they would be gainers by fair union.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

Important Geographical Questions—Mr. Wadman on Marriage.

If Mr. "Lux," the eminent geographer of the great "moral daily" on Government street, will please call to recollection, he will, on looking at the Colonist of a few days back, observe an unpardonable want of geographical knowledge on the part of the "devil." Speaking of the imprisonment of O'Reilly, M. P. for Roscommon, it is made to say: "O'Reilly was placed in jail at Boyle." Now any school boy (if he does not, he ought to know) is aware that there is no jail in Boyle. Roscommon, the chief town of the county where the county jail is, is many miles distant. This grave error on the part of the Colonist must be attributed to extreme ignorance; they might just as well have said that Baley-Kiernan bog was only four miles from Bawnacoolabeg Chapel, near the Cross Roads one side of the police barrack, convenient to Dan Mulligan's public house. As for THE TIMES and the Turormans—well, they are one of the lost tribes of Israel, and may be roaming down by Johnson street sewer, or anywhere there is an honest penny to be picked up, as in the neighborhood of Teheran. Does Mr. "Lux" know where Lummux is? If not, he ought to, that's all. Those that take the roof off private houses should see that their own is water-tight, and the gallantries of barbers or any other body should not be dished up for the edification of the public either at so much a foot or in a death struggle for original matter. It is, to say the least, poor journalistic enterprise.

The churches were pretty well attended yesterday. In The Major's place of worship the congregation was a very fair average attendance, the service well rendered, and the sermon interesting, altho' only the effort of a novice. "Search the Sriptures," is a good subject, and being fairly well handled and delivered, he did not go to sleep this time. Whether it was the sermon or the dread of the mahout goads on either side of him, he can't say. Both the influences, especially the latter, have great effect. It will be a while before The Major sleeps again in church, not with the goads so convenient anyhow.

Wanting something sensational to stir him up these dull times, The Major trotted away out to the Gorge Road Church. The walk was enjoyable. Everything looked blooming, even to the editor of THE TIMES altho' he hadn't "Christie;" it was a soft felt of the usual his "plug" nor yet the shelter of his stiff kind. The tuneful voices of the choir carried on the evening breeze guides us to the pretty little brick church. The sacred edifice was full, but some how we managed to crowd ourselves into a seat. After the usual preliminaries of prayers and singing, the preacher, the Rev. Mr. Wadman, as announced took for his theme—he had no text—"Practical suggestions to young ladies in reference to choosing a husband," and said: Many had found fault with what was called the sensational preaching of our day, and wish the preachers to stick to the old fashioned gospel. Yet Christ in his mission on earth touched on phases of every day life, both busines and social. The pulpit should be as broad as Christ meant it to be; preaching of to-day must be just as practicable as in the days of Christ. Why don't people go to church? Why don't the masses go to church? Simply because the Church does not go to the masses! Preachers now-adays were walking on stilts over the heads of the people, and our B. A.'s and L. L. D.'s were unintelligible to the masses, who desired healthful, practical preaching, which must be delivered to them in true simple English language, and not in double Dutch. The subject of the evening's discourse was practical. To many the suggestion or advice of friend or minister to ladies in the choosing of a husband have come too late in life, often 50 years after the harm was done. The influence of woman on man was great. The character of her influence was borne on all our social customs, in our cities, in politics, in church matters; everything submitted to the charm of her influence. Countries and nations bore the character of her influence. In Turkey women were held in embryonic estimation; hence the nation was embryon. In France woman was adorned and embellished; hence the French were great embellishers. In England woman was honored! The character of that nation was honor! The character of young women before marriage can be traced to that of her husband's in after-life. The moral influence of young women over young men was great, consequently he, the preacher, must speak plain, without fear of offence or shocking any finer sentiments of propriety. Woman boasted of her virtue. What was the virtue of the present day, when men well known to be addicted to the wine cup, users of profane language, dishonest and deceitful, were received with smiles by our virtuous women! The character of the man to be chosen should not be sought in the theatre or the ballroom, but at the Methodist prayer meeting—like Sam Jones! Many good women have met and seen a man suited to their tastes, yet there was a something stepped in and prevented marriage. Better far refuse offers of marriage that would end in nothing but life-long misery than be "hitched" to know-nothings. Women have done this in preference. We had as instances Caroline Herschal, Grace Darling, Florence Nightingale of Crimean war fame, Hannah Moore, etc. There was no hope of reform after marriage. The swearer at religion would make the wife irreligious, while the scoffer would bring to a Christian woman endless sorrow. Such men as those are not to be trusted, and if any young woman had engagements with such they should break them off at once. Never marry a selfish man; he only thinks of himself and his money. Better a girl go hire out; then her money and her time would be her own. Selfish men should be given a wide berth. They are money-making, lying and loveless. Better by far remain single than have such a stick of a husband (laughter). Then there was the man who does nothing; the fashionable bummer of do-nothing and company. He is either obliged to starve or beg, or worse, to live on his mother-in-law! (laughter). The fop of the patent slipper, hair parted in the middle pattern, have nothing to do with him girls (laughter). We never read of God having made a dude. Have nothing either to do with what is called a perfect man, one who never makes a mistake—only with other people's pocket-books. Such are a swindle. There never was such a thing as a perfect man; look out for them—they'd steal acorns from a blind hog. The fast young man—have nothing to do with him whom you know to keep company with fast horses, fast men and lewd women. (Sensation.) What are we to do, to advise? It is not difficult. No need of a sorrowful young man; he is wanting in many things. What you want is manliness, straightforward outspokenness, whose word is that of a gentleman! Dollars and cents, real estate and bank stock does not make a gentleman. It takes intelligence, dignity, respect for word and action. If you have a man whose means leaves him nothing to do he is insufferable. A man should hump himself around, otherwise the home is not pleasant. You don't want him at home all day, smoking cigars, do you? (Laughter.) Martin Tupper, forty years ago, said of marriage that it was not what we call fate, but of Divine wisdom; that we should look heavenward for aid in the choosing of our partners for life, till, like Neome of old, each one of you found rest in the home of a husband!" Sensational, but very true, nevertheless, and a spade is a spade all the world over. The love alphabet is just the same now as when Adam and Eve learned it, and in spite of whatever preachers say, there is fate in marriage. Such is the opinion of

MR. DEWDNEY'S OPINION.

What He Thinks About the Skeena Expedition, Etc.

Lieut.-Governor Dewdney has been interviewed at Regina on the Skeena Indian trouble and expedition with the following result:

"You have read the newspaper accounts of the difficulties attending the march of British Columbia to the Skeena country?"

"Yes; but these difficulties have been much exaggerated. The access to the Skeena will not present any formidable difficulties."

"How do the newspapers' character of these Indians tally with your experience of them?"

"My opinion, gained as you say from 'experience,' is that these Indians are neither 'bloody,' unfriendly, nor repulsive." They seemed to me to be inoffensive and honest; but then you cannot treat and handle any Indians as you could whites, blacks, or any others, in fact, outside the 'genius' red. No doubt, among these people tribal distinctions are rigidly preserved and tribal rights upheld."

"Now, what are tribal rights?"

"A 'white' man kills an Indian; the dead Indian's next of kin wants satisfaction, as his fathers did for centuries before him; that is, life for life by a personal slaying of the murderer or a certain compensation traditionally fixed by tribal custom. The idea of a constable coming to arrest a Skeena river murderer would appear more than superlatively strange to these people. The fact is they are not of us, and to deal with them properly we must understand them. The shedding of blood amongst Indians is not so trifling a matter as white people suppose. On the contrary, it is most serious, and the killing of even one Indian may lead to the most appaling and deplorable results."

"It is said two whites have been killed?"

"Yes, but Indian stories of this kind must be taken cum grano salis. You know how many reports during our Indian troubles of '85 were well founded. For my own part I would not be surprised to hear there was no white man killed at all in the Skeena country. Friendly Indian runners will assert with all solemnity that so and so 'will be killed, sure.' Then the white man says to a friend, the party intended to be murdered has been murdered, and this is very often how things go."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

One Hundred Timber Cutters Saved by a Rain Storm.

OTTAWA, July 24.—One hundred timber cutters working on Perley and Pattee's timber limits on Bonchere river recently had a miraculous escape from a terrible death. Last week four fires started simultaneously at four points of the compass a short distance from the camp where the lumbermen were at work. The flames swept down upon the men, who were not aware of their perilous situation until the fire was almost upon them and all means of escape shut off. They were forced to retreat from the lumber depot in which all their provisions, stock and implements were stored, only to see it doomed by the fiery element which was fast overtaking them. Men who probably never prayed before fell upon their knees and asked to be saved from the dreadful fate that seemed inevitable. Their prayers were answered; as the last ray of hope of delivery had vanished a black cloud was seen rapidly gathering in the west, and in a short time a heavy storm passed over the burning district in which the men were imprisoned, deadening the fire sufficiently to enable them to escape. A number of the men were suffering from the intense heat they had endured.

ANOTHER BIG RAFT.

Successfully Launched in Nova Scotia—Its Dimensions.

JOGGINS, N.S., July 24.—The monster cigar shaped raft was successfully launched to-day. The timber ship story turns out to be a myth. There are no masts or deck houses, and it is of similar construction to that launched last fall, but is larger. It contains 22 thousand pieces of timber, averaging 38 feet in length. It is 600 feet long and 52 wide and 35 in diameter. It is generally believed the raft will reach its destination, New York, in safety. The lumbermen disapprove of these rafts and say it will rob them of freights, employment in manufacturing lumber and destroy the forests.

The Story of "Annie Laurie."

The famous song that is sung by all singers of the present day, I am informed, is a mystery as to the author. I was raised on the next farm to James Laurie, Annie Laurie's father. I was personally acquainted with both her father, and also with the author of the song. Knowing these facts, I have been requested by my friends to give the public the benefit of my knowledge, which I have consented to do. Annie Laurie was born in 1827, and was about 17 years old when the incident occurred which gave rise to the song bearing her name. James Laurie, Annie's father, was a farmer, who lived and owned a very large farm called Thraglestown, in Dumfriesshire, Scotland. He hired a great deal of help, and among those he employed was a man by the name of Wallace to act as foreman, and while in his employ Mr. Wallace fell in love with Annie Laurie, which fact her father soon learned, and forthwith discharged him. He went to his home, which was in Maxwelton, and was taken sick the very night he reached there, and the next morning, when Annie Laurie heard of it, she came to his bedside and waited on him until he died, and on his deathbed he composed the song entitled "Annie Laurie."—Letter to Chicago Herald.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and when these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. *

It is the richest reward of a noble character and a righteous life, and one of which no untoward circumstances can ever deprive its possessor."

Requiem Mass.

Solemn High Mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church, Esquimalt, at 8 o'clock to-morrow, Tuesday morning, for the repose of the soul of the late Very Rev. Father Jonckau who was pastor of the Esquimalt church for the past twenty-one years.

Attempted Burglary.

It is thought an attempt was made to burglarize the Oriental Hotel rooms (over Boucherat & Co.'s store) last evening. Mrs. Metcalfe and Miss Jones who have charge of the apartments heard some one trying the doors and on going out into the hallway the parties ran down the rear stairway. It was some one looking for cheap lodgings or plunder.

Consecration Ceremony.

The services in connection with the consecration of Bishop Lemmens will take place next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. A procession will leave the Bishop's residence on Yates street at that hour, and will proceed up Yates street to Blanchard, along Blanchard to View street, and down View to the Pro-Cathedral. Archbishop Gross, of Oregon, will consecrate the prelate. Bishop Brondel, of Montana, will preach during the Mass. In the evening Archbishop Gross, of Oregon, will preach the sermon.

GONE TO HIS REWARD.

Death of Very Rev. Father J. J. Jonckau, Vicar-General.

At 8 o'clock mass on Sunday morning Father Nicoyle announced the sudden death of Very Rev. Father Jonckau, Vicar-General of Vancouver Island. Some time ago Father Jonckau was ailing and was informed by his medical attendant that he was suffering from a diseased heart and lungs. On Saturday evening he retired at the usual hour. Nothing unusual occurred until about 3:30 a.m. on Sunday, when Father Mandart heard Father Jonckau coughing violently. Father Mandart hurridly left his bed and called on Father Jonckau to open his door which he did with great difficulty. On entering the room Father Mandart saw blood streaming from the nose and mouth of Father Jonckau. He was unable to speak and was assisted to his bed by the priests. The last sacraments of the Church were administered and medical aid summoned; but before the arrival of a doctor Father Jonckau's spirit had fled and the clergy and congregation of this city were called upon to again mourn the loss of another of their respected and beloved pastors. Father Jonckau was a native of Leige, Belgium, and was forty-eight years of age. He was educated at Mechlin, near Louvain. In 1867 he was ordained and arrived in this city at the end of that year. For thirteen years he was in charge of St. Louis' College in this city, and was greatly beloved by the pupils and also by his congregation in Esquimalt, where he conducted services every Sunday morning. Father Jonckau was selected to succeed Bishop Brondel in the diocese of Vancouver Island, but declined through ill-health. He accepted the office of Vicar General of the diocese until the appointment of the late Archbishop Seghers. The deceased prelate also appointed Father Jonckau to the office on his departure for Alaska, and he filled the position until the arrival of the Papal Bulls appointing Bishop Lemmens. The remains are lying in state in the library at the residence of the clergy. The room is draped and two Sisters of Mercy are seated at the head of the catafalque. The deceased is attired in his priestly vestments with a crucifix on his breast. The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning. The remains will be conveyed to the Pro-Cathedral where a solemn requiem high mass will be held and the last sad rites will take place. Members of the Young Men's Institute and St. Joseph's Society will meet at their hall this evening to make arrangements for attending the funeral.

INTERIOR NEWS.

Personal Mention—Hot Weather—Methodist Parsonage, Etc.

Mr. James Woodland, who has been visiting his former home in the east, has returned to Kamloops, accompanied by his sister.

At Kamloops on Sunday the thermometer registered 108°, and then a welcome change took place, the latter part of the week being tempered by cloudy skies.

Mr. Wilson, of Victoria, has been appointed to take charge of the British Columbia Bank agency here, in the absence of Manager Barnes, who has left for a trip east. Mr. Wilson is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Canon Cooper and Dr. Clarke returned Friday from Spallumcheen, where a lodge of instruction and rehearsal was held on Tuesday, in the new Masonic Hall, Lansdowne, the building being consecrated on the Wednesday following.

The new Methodist parsonage at Kamloops is being rapidly built, and will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks. It is a two-storey building, 32x28, and will make a handsome and comfortable residence. Hill Bros., the contractors, intend beginning work on the new church in about two weeks.

The Kamloops Pioneer Society gave a farewell supper at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, to Mr. Jacob Duck, a member of the organization, who left there Tuesday for England. Mr. Duck's departure is greatly regretted, as he had won the esteem and friendship of all with whom he had come in contact.

Mr. and Mrs. Hine and Mrs. Dan Robinson, of Beaver, have gone east. Mrs. Robinson goes to Pembroke and Mrs. Hine to England and Mr. Hine to Baltimore, where he will be joined by Mrs. Hine after she pays a visit to friends in England. Mr. Hine has been book-keeper and manager for F. Robinson for about a year and goes east with the good will of his late employer and all the men around the mill.

About three miles up the Kicking Horse from Golden, A. Vachon and Hugh McDonald have what they think is sure to be in time a quicksilver mine. The claim is called the Ebenezer, and is developed by 5x6 tunnel in a distance of 80 feet. Assays from picked samples give returns as high as 84 per cent. mercury and $9 to 14 in silver to the ton. Dan Graham claims to have discovered a ledge within a mile of Golden that gives free milling returns of $7.50 to 14 in gold to the ton.

Wedding.

At 8 o'clock this morning Mr. D. Stanley was married to Miss Florence D. Preston, youngest daughter of O. J. Preston of the lumbering firm of Preston & McKinnon, of San Francisco. Miss Mary Ellen Dwyer was bridesmaid and Mr. Dillon acted as best man. Rev. Father Van Nevel performed the interesting ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Preston will leave for their home to-night.

Marine Notes.

The bark Arabella, owned by Bichard & Co., of San Francisco, and which is undergoing repairs in the Esquimalt dry dock, under the superintendence of Capt. Howard, will have the work on her hull completed this week. Capt. Howard says she is a sound strong craft. He was surprised to see that they built such fine vessels in Quebec, the province from which she came. Capt. Stover will rig and fix her up but she will not be ready for sea for some weeks yet.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Four Young Men Drowned Outside Esquimalt—All Well Known.

At an early hour this morning the city was thrown into a terrible state of excitement by the sad intelligence that a number of young men were drowned outside of Esquimalt Harbor. A reporter gleaned the following news of the accident: On Saturday evening four young men hired a sail boat from Nicholas Buttocio, of the Johnson street ferry, and started at 8 o'clock for Rocky Point, near Race Rocks Lighthouse. The party consisted of Thomas Argyle, second son of the lightkeeper at Race Rocks, Arthur Williams, son of Mrs. R. Lissett of James Bay; Abraham Vanderslius, brother-in-law of Mr. A. A. Aaronson, and H. E. Leavitt Smith, teacher at Rocky Point.

A number of Indians called at officer J. D. Campbell's residence in Esquimalt at 7 o'clock this morning and reported that a man was drowned in a boat three miles outside of Esquimalt harbor. The officer immediately started for the place indicated and found a boat bottom up floating around with the wind and tide. A small portion of the stern of the boat was out of water and the name, Albatross, was discernable. On looking beneath the surface Mr. Campbell saw the body of a man with his foot under one of the seats and his head lying across the gunwale. The officer had a boat-hook about 14 feet long with which he reached down and brought the body to the surface. It was found to be the remains of H. E. Levitt Smith. The bodies of the other young men were not found and there is but little doubt that they all met a watery grave. The young men intended surprising the people at Rocky Point and took a quantity of provisions along for a stay of a couple of days. Whilst sailing out of the harbor they met another boat on the way to Albert Head and Williams was almost induced to leave the ill-fated vessel in which he was seated. After leaving the outer harbor nothing more was seen of the ill-fated party.

Arthur Williams was well known in this city where he was born and raised. His father was drowned when the steamer Geo. S. Wright foundered some years ago. His mother, Mrs. J. Lisset, resides on Michigan street, James Bay. For many years the young man was employed by Mr. C. E. Redfern and J. Dassonville. Lately he started a watch-making shop on Fort street, above Government, and was engaged in business on Fort street, between Broad and Douglas streets for the past three months. Thomas Argyle was the second son of T. Argyle of Race Rocks Lighthouse. He was about 24 years of age and was employed at Race Rocks. Abraham Vandersluis was aged 21 years, and was a native of London, England. He arrived in this city about 18 months ago and was employed by his brother-in-law, Mr. A. A. Aaronson, in his store on Johnson street. H. E. Leavitt Smith, the young man whose body was found was 24 years of age. He was a native of Woodstock, New Brunswick, and was a graduate of Mount Allison College. He arrived in this city last year and was teacher at the Rocky Point school where he endeared himself to the trustees, parents and scholars. The boat was brought in the harbor this afternoon, and the following articles were found: A black waterproof coat with a collar in the pocket marked A. E. Smith; two bottles of beer; a bottle containing a small quantity of brandy; box of cigars; a pistol with two empty cartridges and three loaded; the pistol shows marks of having been recently fired.

B. C. R. A. MATCHES.

Opening Meeting on Wednesday—Mrs. Nelson to Fire First Shot.

The fifteenth Annual Prize Meeting of the Provincial Rifle Association will take place at the Otter Point range on Wednesday, August 1st. The first shot will be fired by Mrs. Nelson punctually at 11 a. m. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, His Worship, the Mayor, the Vice Patron, the President and members of the Council will be in attendance at the opening ceremonies, which promise to be of an unusually interesting character.

The list of matches to be fired reflects credit on the Council of the Association, who have endeavored to so arrange the competition that all confusion and hurry will be avoided. Lieutenant Lang, R E, will act as range officer, and will supervise the competition throughout. The amount to be distributed in prizes will reach nearly $500, not including the prizes offered in the Extra Series matches, which have been introduced in lieu of the pool target. A team from New Westminster will be present to compete for the Laurie Bugle, some of whom will come to-night. The target accommodation has been increased, and the range has been put in good order for intending contestants, who will find every convenience at their disposal. Conveyances will leave the Clarence Hotel for the rifle range on Wednesday morning at 9:30, and on the following day at 8:30 a. m.

H. B. Co. Headquarters.

The Vancouver News-Advertiser says that it has received advices from London that instructions have been cabled to the commissioner of the Hudson Bay Company at Victoria to take the necessary steps for the removal of the headquarters of that company from Victoria to Vancouver. Our contemporary's wish is perhaps father to the thought. While it is possible that the company will do a very large business in Vancouver and erect buildings suitable to the requirements of the trade, it is not at all probable that the change as referred to by our contemporary will be carried out. The company has too many interests in Victoria, real estate, warehouses, wharves, etc., to even consider the suggestion; and can supply all parts of the province quite as well, and many points more expeditiously and cheaply, from this city than from any other.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous. *

attitude and were still very excited over the killing of Kit-wan-cool Jim. Two Indians had been already killed as a result of the first murder and in accordance with tribal customs. One was the father of Kit-wan-cool Jim who was made by the opposite tribe to suffer for the crime of his son. The second Indian killed was the murderer of the old man Kit-wan-cool Jim's father. In Hankin's opinion unless something were done serious trouble would occur. The specials might prevent it. In view of this information it was decided that Supt. Roycraft should proceed to Hazleton and investigate the position of affairs.

OFF TO HAZLETON.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing Indians and canoes to go up the river on account of the fishing season being on. Mr. Cunningham secured six men well acquainted with the river, but these afterwards refused to go and a fresh crew had to be secured. By Sunday morning everything had been got in readiness and the party for the seat of war were given a good send off about 10:30 a.m. The distance to be travelled was 160 miles, and it was the general opinion that there would be no trouble in making it as the river was in a favorable condition. It is estimated it will take the canoes about ten days to go up. Immediately on arriving Supt. Roycraft will dispatch messengers down the river to report whether the services of the soldiers will be required or not. It is not believed they will.

THE CAMPING GROUND.

"C" Battery encamped on a site selected on the Hoebstaa river. The ground is soft and boggy and the sandflies are very troublesome. It is a gentle slope and was heavily wooded. It took portions of two days to make a clearance. The situation is about two miles from Essington by water or about one mile overland if it were possible to go that way. None of the men are allowed to go into Essington. Patrol till nine o'clock at night. The whole company including the officers have donned their brown duck suits and the camp is described as presenting the appearance of a convict colony. The grub is said to be pretty good. The men get potted meat, plenty of salmon, treacle and biscuits. The latter are hard as flint and suitable for killing Indians with. At an inside calculation the Battery will be in camp for three weeks and the men are considerably disgusted over it as they expected to have some fighting to do and now that there is none they are restless to get back into civilization.

THE KILLING OF JIM.

An Indian who witnessed the killing of Jim informed Mr. Turner that when the constables went to make the arrest Jim was in the house with some other Indians. Green and two other constables went into the house but did not attempt to make the arrest. Jim who had a revolver in his hand said to the constables "go on," meaning that the constables should take him. They moved around him when he suddenly bolted out the back door and the constables after him. Green ran out the front door. One of the party fired a pistol over the fleeting Jim's head and at this moment Green almost ran against him coming round the corner. Green immediately fired hitting the Indian in the back. He lived for an hour. He claimed that when shot he was about to give himself up, as he had a letter from Indian Agent Todd advising him to do this. The Indians say that if Jim had been arrested they would not have interfered.

THE DOUBLE MURDER.

The following account of the death of two Indians has been received by the Hon. Attorney-General from Chief Constable Washburn at Hazelton: An Indian arrived here July 10th, stating that a murder had been committed at Kitzegukla, the party killed proving to be Mox-soe-gnett, the father-in-law of Kit-wan-cool Jim. I started at once for there with three constables. Found on my arrival that the perpetrator of the deed, Tobis by name, was killed himself during my journey down the river by Maw-ah-han, the head chief of the Kitzeguklas, who I at once arrested and took to Hazelton. It appears that Tobis, after the act, turned a raging maniac, with homicidal intent. Mah-ah-han, who is and always has been a very good and peaceable Indian, says that he can prove he was fired at and hunted about, and acted in self defence. While at Kitze-gukla made post mortem examination on both bodies and took the necessary notes as to the result of my investigations.

NOTES.

The Caroline left Skeena on Wednesday. She remained over a day at Alert Bay, where the officers and Mr. Turner went fishing, and the men were allowed special leave.

Hankin and other traders are sending their goods up the Skeena, which does not indicate any insurrection among the Indians.

The men of C Battery and the blue jackets got along well together.

Before leaving the Caroline on Tuesday the officers of C Battery expressed to Sir William Wiseman and his officers their high appreciation of the many courtesies extended to them during the trip, and the generous way in which they had been entertained.

Major Peters was building himself a log house.

The Cariboo Fly was met on Thursday and the Caroline's mails taken off.

The Boscowitz had left Skeena on the down trip before the Caroline.

The Indians were allowed to inspect the war ship, and were shown the effect of the electric search light.

The Last Rites.

The funeral of the late Herbert A. Harrison took place Sunday afternoon from the Masonic Temple at 3 o'clock. A large number were in attendance to pay their last mark of respect to the deceased including several residents of Saanich and some of the leading merchants of the city. Among the number was Mr. Wm. Angus, representing the firm in which the deceased had served so faithfully for years, and who held him in high esteem. On Saturday evening the body was brought down from Vancouver by the Yosemite. At Vancouver it was followed to the wharf by a procession of Masons and citizens, and on the arrival of the steamer in the city it was escorted again by a procession of Masons to the temple. The turn out of brethren of the mystic tie to escort the remains of the dead brother to the last resting place was also large yesterday. The cortege proceeded to Christ Church Cathedral, thence to Ross Bay. At the cathedral and at the grave the impressive services of the church were conducted by the Rev. A. Beanlands, and that of the Masons by Grand Master Master Milne, assisted by Worshipful Master Northcott. The beautiful casket was covered with wreaths of flowers among which was a rare floral emblem in the shape of a cross from Mr. Wm. Croft, M. P. P. The pall-bearers were H. G. McCandless, W. H. Pennock, W. B. Brown, J. Piercy, J. E. Church, J. Dean.
